

Joe Kabissa

PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

- A specialist on aspects of cotton development and promotion
- Managerial experience in management of agricultural research
- An applied entomologist with good publishing and participation records at local and international cotton fora

EDUCATION

- Doctor of Philosophy in Applied Zoology, University of Dar es Salaam, Department of Zoology and Marine Biology, 1993.
Thesis: Studies on the Biology and Ecology of Chrysopid Predators of Helicoverpa armigera (Hubner) (Lepidoptera: Noctuidae) and Aphis gossypii (Glover) (Homoptera: Aphididae) on Cotton, Gossypium hirsutum(L) in Eastern Tanzania.
- Master of Science in Applied Entomology, Colorado State University, USA, 1983.
Thesis: Field Bean Foliage Consumption by the Mexican bean beetle, Epilachna varivestis (Mulsant) (Coleoptera: Coccinellidae).
- Bachelor of Science (General - Botany & Zoology), University of Dar es Salaam, 1975.